

How to Use the Celebration Center in the Classroom

- The Celebration Center celebrates life events, individual achievements and contributions to the School Family. It is a way for children to honor themselves and each other for events they feel are important. (It is not a place where rewards are given for good behavior.)
- Each classroom will have its own Celebration Center and rituals. Teachers preselect events from these classroom celebrations to include in school-wide celebrations.
- The school-wide celebrations are posted on a bulletin board in a central location like a main hallway.
- Teachers also preselect a certain number of students to share their celebrations as part of the Celebration Ritual in the School Family Assemblies.

“You lost a tooth...”

“You worked so hard...”
